HOW EMBODIED LABS WORKS

Who We Are

The Embodied Labs platform is the gold standard for training and education of the future. Our experiences allow people to step into an environment that they would not be able to experience in any other method of training today.

Our experiences:

- Provide a first-person perspective of older adults and the challenges they face
- Designed specifically for organizations that work with older adults

Embodied Labs drives value by being a crucial element of the training process for quality care professionals who have a passion for caregiving and high emotional intelligence, allowing them to be the support, champion, confidant, and provider that the aging community and their families need.

How We Train

Utilize Embodied Labs in one-to-one settings, groups, and remotely via the newly-launched distance learning training program. Embodied Labs will work closely with your team to tailor a training program that aligns specifically with the workflows you have today.
